

Hiccups Little leather book

by The-dead-make-no-sound

Category: How to Train Your Dragon, Rise of the Guardians
Language: English
Characters: Jack Frost
Status: Completed
Published: 2013-04-16 07:01:00
Updated: 2013-04-16 07:01:00
Packaged: 2016-04-26 14:55:14
Rating: T
Chapters: 1
Words: 314
Publisher: www.fanfiction.net
Summary: A series of short diary entries by hiccup. Once off.

Hiccups Little leather book

Dear diary,

>I know it's not manly to say that but I'm not considered manly wether I do or don't. They will never love me, neither of them will ever look at me, all because of him, his white hair and blue eyes, I don't stand a chance, I've got green eyes, boring brown hair and a fake leg, I have nothing to offer them.

Repunzel can't even talk to me when Jack is around, Merida goes on and in about his smile. I'm just a friend to them, when I love them both. I could never decide between them, but I know I won't get the chance to while jack is around. He doesn't live either of them. But no matter, in a few days it will all go away.

Hiccup.

dear diary,

I don't understand, why don't they love me. I took away what was hurting them and they cried, they screamed, I just don't understand. Merida and Punzies cried because Jack Broke thier hearts, but then they cried when I killed him. I thought they would love me when I told them, but try we're scarred. I killed him for them, because I love them. I can't take this, if I can't have them telling the town. I regret what I must do.

hiccup

dear diary,

The village found Jacks body today, as well and Punzies and Meridas. I watched them, watched them drab them from the well. I cried, I killed them, I killed my only friends, stabbed them and shoved them in that well. What have I done? It was their fault, they drove me to this, still I can't take it. I have to apologise. Only way to do that is to meet them in heaven. So I'm leaving Tonight.

Hiccup

End
file.